1	I like Option 2 but is there a possibility of also including the bamboo jungle from Option 1?	8/31/2020 3:45 PM
2	I like option one as well but I don't think the bamboo thing would be utilized	8/31/2020 12:47 PM
3	I really think we need to keep the basic as possible: primarily to reduce maintenance schedule and expenses, but also general public approachability. Option #1 is the closest, minus the bamboo jungle feature, which seems more ornamental than functional to the average trailgoer. A better option would be something similar to the Auditorium shore renovated exercise area. No bells and whistles: just pull-up, push-up, dip-bars, and benches.	8/31/2020 8:19 AM
4	Please make at least one of the pull up bars for taller people. Not one pullup bar at any of the existing exercise stations anywhere on Lady Bird Lake is suitable for any person 6ft or taller.	8/30/2020 9:18 AM
5	Option 1 sticks to the basics and how to use the apparatus is intuitive, and looks like it will be more durable. Option 2 apparatus looks unfamiliar, complicated to use and expensive to maintain and repair.	8/29/2020 8:00 PM
6	Other parks have gliders, balancer, bikes. Would be nice for austin	8/29/2020 8:27 AM
7	But I also like the bamboo jungle! Very cool	8/28/2020 8:35 PM
8	Option 1 looks like it might be more fun for kids.	8/28/2020 3:31 PM
9	The bamboo jungle is fantastic- it is a great piece to feature in austin. it is at the crossroads of aesthetic and fitness.	8/28/2020 1:42 PM
10	option 1 is much more aesthetically pleasing and sculptural. option 2 looks too busy	8/28/2020 1:22 PM
11	Options should ensure the maintenance requirements, and try to avoid ones that may become inoperable with improper use or maintenance.	8/28/2020 7:47 AM
12	I really like having good pullup bar options. #2 doesn't offer that.	8/27/2020 9:25 PM
13	Option 2 seems more interactive and fun. I also like that it is segmented and has dividers so there's a slight feeling of privacy. Many parks have most of the equipment in option 1 and they generally go unused because they are limiting and allow for exercises that we could just use a nearby wall, fence, etc for.	8/27/2020 6:17 PM
14	bamboo jungle seems fun for kids too	8/27/2020 5:52 PM
15	They are both wonderful options, but I voted for option 1 because I think the bamboo jungle is unique and innovative!	8/24/2020 10:26 PM
16	I mostly use pull-up bars at such stations, especially when they're about 7'8" tall, and solidly-mounted steel bars and frames. If you go with Kompan instead of Trekfit equipment, perhaps consider their Pull Up Station Pro product, which has a 7'8" pull-up bar.	8/23/2020 4:48 PM
17	I appreciate how option one has plenty of opportunities for pull ups, as well as parallel bars. I haven't used this equipment area in the past but I do run on the trail. Having the updated equipment for body weight core exercises to supplement jogs would be greatly appreciated!	8/22/2020 7:25 PM
18	The second one has more things I can do for strength training, which is why I might be stopping here. I don't have the upper body strength for the parallel bars or the pull up bars in the first one. I love the suspension trainer. I have similar straps at home where I can use my body weight to get a good workout. The parallel bars on the second one are lower which would make them available to people that can't really do anything with the higher ones, like me! Overall, the second one seems to have more accessible, fun options for more people.	8/22/2020 4:42 PM
19	I feel like I would exercise better for option 2	8/21/2020 12:39 PM
20	Option2 looks really modern and fun. Looks like it would provide great variety compared to Option 1.	8/21/2020 12:27 PM
21	The first option is visually appealing, but it's really not clear how it could be used for a workout. The second has so much more variety, and the instructions on it are helpful too.	8/21/2020 9:42 AM
22	I like option 2 equipment better but the bamboo structure would be a cool addition from plan 1	8/21/2020 12:02 AM
23	I like the options and flexibility of the second one. Offers use for more types of abilities. Love	8/20/2020 11:39 PM the suspension trainer.

24	Slight preference for option 1	8/20/2020 4:30 PM
25	For Option 1: The bamboo jungle is definitely a different approach that would excite me to use it. I would use my imagination, pretending to climb through a real jungle. For Option 2: It's very traditional and non-threatening. Take that as you would be it good or bad	8/20/2020 3:07 PM
26	I like option 1 a lot except for the bamboo jungle. I don't understand the need to create an opportunity for aerobic exercise. People use the benches a lot for HIIT work. As someone over the age of 25, I would also avoid it due to the potential for injury. I read a lot about fitness, message-boards, etc, and I have never heard of a bamboo jungle. In addition, I see children being attracted to the bamboo jungle, and it's always frustrating when parents allow children to play on the exercise equipment. They linger for a long time and are unaware of people waiting to use the equipment. They also get in the way, which causes safety concerns. If children are the target audience for these, it would be better to have a separate children's area somewhere else. I would rather see more bars or benches as there can be a wait. I strongly dislike Option 2. It's overcomplicated, it looks cramped, and it doesn't provide the simple infrastructure necessary for an outdoor workout. I feel there will be a wait for bars and the rest will go unused. Also, several people jog to the exercise equipment, so additional cardio is a waste. If you hang out by Aud Shores, you can view what kinds of workouts people are improvising just on the benches and the grass there...in addition to the bars. You can see what kinds of movements people are doing. Personally, as a shorter woman, I find it difficult to use the parallel bars by the First Street bridge. They are at a good height for men I assume. I appreciate the two heights on the pull-up bars...there might not be space, but some female-friendly parallel bars might be considered.	8/20/2020 2:45 PM
27	Option one is much more natural and matches the style of the trail.	8/20/2020 2:30 PM
28	This option seems more versatile. Could be done on ones own training level, beginner to professional athlete; as well as either working out alone or as a class coached by a professional trainer.	8/20/2020 2:02 PM
29	Seems that option 2 gives more variety of exercises and for more people at a time	8/20/2020 11:32 AM
30	Kompan Equipment is safe and sturdy	8/20/2020 11:27 AM
31	Love the diversity and options the 2nd option did!	8/20/2020 11:12 AM
32	Te second one feels more user friendly. The shapes more familiar. Also, it seems like there would be more options for wider levels of ability. The first one feels more experimental. And, not sure I would know how to utilize.	8/20/2020 10:55 AM
33	Opt 2 looks like it provide a wider range of exercises, and safer too.	8/20/2020 10:28 AM
34	I really like the Kompan equipment. I really like the all ages and all abilities in their design. Having options for the elderly and the disabled is very important. The trail is used by all, not just the uber athletes. I hope Austin puts in more of the Kompan equipment in other parks. The konpan equipment looks more flexible, in terms of hitting all kinds of muscles.	8/20/2020 10:25 AM
35	If option 2 could have the bamboo jungle, that would be ideal!	8/20/2020 10:03 AM
36	It looks like there is a wider range of options for exercises. It's bright and inviting.	8/20/2020 9:55 AM
37	I like the number of options this equipment allows for. For example, there are multiple steps to accommodate people of different heights and fitness levels and three sets of rings provided options. I also like the built in instruction panels. Working out can get monotonous so I like that this option is so flexible and suggests some exercises that I've never done.	8/20/2020 9:50 AM
38	Option 2 has a MUCH more diverse selection of equipment and is far more visually appealing.	8/20/2020 9:43 AM
39	I think option 2 has greater variety to allow people of all ages and abilities to use it.	8/20/2020 9:43 AM
40	The first one is basically what is already there and it's highly basic. The second would upgrade the space itself to match the neighborhood's strong focus on fitness and match that need more closely. I would absolutely use the space more often with more usable equipment.	8/20/2020 9:30 AM
41	Option 2 has much more variety with their equipment. More muscle groups to target.	8/20/2020 9:21 AM
42	Looks like excellent outdoor equipment that offers more real exercising and strength building.	8/20/2020 9:14 AM

Butler Shores Exercise Equipment Enhancement Community Engagement

43	Option 2 is awesome! The equipment has something for everyone and I love how the panels on the equipment show you different types of exercise. The colors also make option 2 more unique!	8/20/2020 9:02 AM
44	Option 1 can barely be called exercise equipment. It looks more like a trim trail, and I would not use it for long. Maybe 5 minutes. Option 2 has real functional fitness equipment, that could support an entire workout for +30 minutes. Would love to has such sites in Austin - and it looks great too!	8/20/2020 9:00 AM
45	I believe option #2 gives your more training options. Looks very sturdy and well made.	8/20/2020 8:58 AM
46	Option 2 has more variety and seems more inclusive - for folks of all abilities. Option 1 is mostly bars.	8/20/2020 8:58 AM
47	kettle bells are great!!!	8/20/2020 8:56 AM
48	The 2 options look great, but I chose option 2 because it looks like it has more training options. Maybe if option 1 would be extended a little it would provide a wider variety of workouts.	8/20/2020 8:17 AM
49	The bamboo jungle in addition to option 2 would be great !	8/19/2020 11:06 PM
50	The pole things are stupid	8/19/2020 6:28 PM
51	I like pull up bars more than anything else.	8/19/2020 4:41 PM
52	Option 2 looks like it will be broken in a few months, moving parts would be a maintenance issue. I'd vote for Option 1, but the bamboo jungle seems more appropriate for a children's playground. I'd rather have Option 1 with more pullup bars and additional benches.	8/19/2020 1:54 PM
53	Focus on the essentials: pull up bars that are durable and useable for tall people, dip bars, push up bars, step up / jump up station. Funky equipment with moving parts just breaks.	8/19/2020 1:41 PM
54	I love both options but feel option 2 is more susceptible to vandalism.	8/19/2020 1:40 PM
55	I do not believe the arm bike will see much use and will be more prone to failure than any of the other equipment.	8/19/2020 1:28 PM
56	No parking	8/19/2020 12:31 PM
57	There's more to do on option #2, but I don't see a regular pull up bar, which seems like an easy and very necessary addition ☹️	8/19/2020 10:27 AM
58	The variety of possible exercises in option 2 seems more approachable for all users	8/19/2020 10:13 AM
59	Option 2 will quickly wear out and break. Will be ugly. Option 1 will look more AUSTIN and will stand the test of time	8/19/2020 10:01 AM
60	the trek fit seems like it would look good and never be used. for what it's worth, the things i've seen most used at the semi-new station at 4th and attayac are the body weight bits - people are doing pull ups, push ups, squats, step ups, and situps. i've seen people meet there and bring various bands and weights to supplement. i've seen people working out at kealing middle a lot as well - their new play ground has some bits like the trek thing, which i personally have used. but i have never seen anyone else using them.	8/19/2020 9:35 AM
61	Option 2 is missing pull up bars	8/19/2020 9:29 AM
62	I don't think exercise equipment should attract/look like toys for kids. Bamboo jungle in Option 1 sounds like a really terrible and dangerous item	8/17/2020 5:03 PM
63	There needs to be the ability to do pull ups, dips, push ups, and calf raises if possible.	8/17/2020 9:07 AM
64	Make sure there is ample room for pull-ups	8/16/2020 10:46 PM
65	I like the current setup with chin up bars and pull up bars and a lot of open space between exercise stations and I like the padded surface, please consider lights at the site.	8/13/2020 9:34 PM
66	Option 2 has more moving parts, requires more maintenance. I've seen park exercise equipment fall out of maintenance before, so I don't think option 2 would last as long.	8/13/2020 2:45 PM
67	Please add horizontal bars and high and wide pull-up bars	8/11/2020 9:06 PM

Butler Shores Exercise Equipment Enhancement Community Engagement

68	Some horizontal bars would be cool. Also higher and wide pull up bars.	8/11/2020 8:42 PM
69	Myself and a group of friends depend on different height pull up bars to get a full body workout while also working towards calisthenic type skills. We work out at that location often. PLEASE keep it simple. If you include machines we won't be able to do the things we need.	8/11/2020 7:20 PM
70	I appreciate Option 1 for it's focus on straightforward strength training and ease of use of the equipment. Option 2, while "pretty", has a steep learning curve - I would have trouble figuring many of those elements out, and I'm an experienced exercise..r.	8/11/2020 1:14 PM
71	Pull-up bar and bench are essential.	8/10/2020 9:54 PM
72	Although I liked the bamboo jungle in option 1, there seems to be more things to grab my attention in option 2, although, as a fitness trainer, I don't understand the usefulness of the arm bike and magnetic bell. I also think steps are a waste of time since we have hills and steps everywhere in town without having to pay for them!	8/10/2020 8:58 PM
73	These options generally don't appeal to athletes or those with above average fitness.	8/10/2020 8:14 PM
74	#2 generally seems better but there is no pull-up bar. I don't quite understand the bamboo jungle - it could be interesting if I knew what to do with it. I like all the things in #2 but I would wish there was a pull-up bar.	8/10/2020 3:31 PM
75	Thank you for what you do for our Trail. I have spent so many hours & years running The Butler Trail. It is a jewel!	8/10/2020 1:33 PM
76	Option 2 has more diverse possibilities. It offers more opportunities to exercise different muscle groups and a wider variety of movements.	8/10/2020 10:22 AM
77	The bamboo jungle will just attract small children. It feels more like a playground than fitness area. Option 2 is overly complicated. Kettlebells on wires make no sense - they are meant to be used with greater range of motion.	8/10/2020 12:39 AM
78	Option 2 looks more expensive so if there's a budget for it, do that. However I don't like having the company's branded name on public equipment. Why does it have to say KOMPAN on everything? It seems to be more geared towards young adult type of fitness. I think option 1 looks like it would be a nicer fit visually with that location and seems to target more of a range of park users, from kids to adults.	8/9/2020 12:48 PM
79	Option 1 more naturally fits into the surroundings of the trail. Option 2's equipment is too garish.	8/9/2020 12:23 PM
80	While I'm not a big fan of exercise equipment in general, Option 1 is much better. It allows for more options in the future and is not as trendy. Option 2 is short sighted and doesn't allow as many people to enjoy it at once.	8/9/2020 8:28 AM
81	Both are good options, but #1 is the clear winner.	8/9/2020 8:27 AM
82	It's outside. So option 1 is nice because it fits more.wjth the landscape. Option 2 looks like you're trying to make an outdoor YMCA. Not as creative as option 1.	8/9/2020 8:17 AM
83	Option 1 provides more continuity to other exercise equipment locations around the Butler Trail.	8/8/2020 7:47 AM
84	I really like the idea of option 2 (parts of it at least) but I am very concerned that the equipment will need maintenance that will require continued funding, down time, etc. I have been waiting for an update to this equipment for decades, and now that this area is getting the attention it deserves, I dont want to risk that the equipment becomes unusable.	8/7/2020 8:03 PM
85	The orange design (Option 2) looks like something out of communist China.	8/7/2020 1:01 PM
86	More inclined to vote on opt 2 because it offers a different variety of exercises, specifically catered to the older patrons.... but for all age usage, I'd add the pull up bars which allow for a few different options	8/6/2020 9:59 PM
87	love the bamboo jungle!	8/6/2020 6:18 PM
88	Make at least one pull up bar high enough for Full Extension: 7-6 Multi height and multiple bars preferred.	8/6/2020 6:08 PM
89	Since people aren't really "seen" here like at the VM workout area, I cant picture that group of	8/6/2020 4:55 PM

people/adults really working out over here. It's really been more of a passing by place for a few quick exercises. Maybe since it is less traveled and private more people might tend to workout here that wouldn't at VM though? I consider this area less traveled and a backup parking area if other lots are full/busy. Not sure what demographic this area really sees. Maybe people will walk over from the Pfluger bridge area, so could be nice. Seems like Option 2 is too progressive and a tad strange. Option 1 seems best for the basics, where the Jungle set is cool for kids. I don't think it's really needed though, but looks cool.

90	Option 1 is the more sustainable option for long-term use. Option 2 seems more vulnerable to: 1. breaking/missing parts 2. germs and general hygiene concerns 3. Vandalism	8/6/2020 3:55 PM
91	I expect the exercise equipment propose din option 2 will break more frequently and will require more maintenance.	8/6/2020 10:41 AM
92	Preference is option 1. I think it is more classic while still having the jungle. I think it will age a lot better than option 2.	8/5/2020 4:49 PM
93	I worry that the suspension trainer may break or rust, or someone may destruct the chains.	8/5/2020 1:37 PM
94	I like that Option #2 has greater diversity, but you lose a pull up bar. A pull up bar is important (the pulling rings are great for those who cannot do bodyweight pullups, but they are not comprable for those who need at least their bodyweight for a sufficient training effect. I would remove the arm bike and replace with something else.	8/5/2020 12:53 PM
95	I think option 2 is great on paper but the abundance of mechanical moving parts involved in the various machines could potentially lead to frequent breakage and increased maintenance compared to the more static equipment from option 1.	8/5/2020 11:16 AM
96	I like option two better, but it looks like some parts might break, and I would hate to have broken equipment taking up space.	8/4/2020 9:56 PM
97	Wow, what an amazing concept!!!!!! I would love to have access to that!	8/4/2020 7:16 PM
98	The bamboo bars in option one seam great especially for both kids and adults but option two seems like it will be an overall better and more useful option for exercise needs	8/4/2020 5:26 PM
99	I really love Option 2 as it allows for more muscle work, but worry about vandalism, theft or other damage/maintenance burden for City crews? One suggestion - can we have a large soft "mat" area where 3-5 ppl could conceivably do yoga or situps?	8/4/2020 5:17 PM
100	Arm bikes and step ups aren't a priority for most people that are by the trail. They are getting cardio going on the trail.	8/4/2020 5:11 PM
101	Trees are key here. It's so hot that it limits the time I use the equipment.	8/4/2020 5:05 PM
102	We need more bathrooms on the trail!!! Not new exercise equipment.	8/4/2020 4:21 PM
103	The first option has much less utility. There's only so much you can do with a simple bar or bench. Most people won't know what to do to get in a good workout. The bamboo jungle also looks like a lawsuit waiting to happen.	8/4/2020 4:09 PM
104	option 2 by a landslide is better. I am at this area every day doing stretching and other exercises. However, ditch the arm bike; that will be a maintenance headache that will eventually just be replaced. Ensure whatever equipment is placed is suitable to withstand our hot, humid climate for many years to come and get warranty information to support so that we do not have a constant stream of tickets to repair.	8/4/2020 3:48 PM
105	I'm concerned about the durability of option 2 but both are good.	8/4/2020 3:18 PM
106	i really only use the pull up bars and sit up bench. i think these are are fine, but the benches, shower and exercise mat need to be repaired. more shade would also be nice.	8/4/2020 3:03 PM
107	Option 2 looks like it offers more varied ways to stretch and strengthen muscles.	8/4/2020 2:57 PM
108	I think option 2 is excellent but, sadly, worry about vandalism. I do like option 1 as well and think it's more vandal resistant.	8/4/2020 2:18 PM
109	i like option 1 because it is a simpler equipment to use and to maintain. I am NOT a fan of the bamboo jungle as I dont' think many will use. looks complicated and high libility. most people in the trail are already doing some cardio(walk/run/jog) additional cardio equipment seems redundant. Keep it simple is my rule...easy to use.	8/4/2020 1:53 PM

110	Would also be great if there were two pull up bars and two benches along with the bamboo jungle. There is plenty of room. If not, then maybe add option 2 to the Butler Park area at some point.	8/4/2020 1:42 PM
111	I like the simpler equipment in version 1- It seems better for flexible use by adults and kids. Not as intimidating as the equipment in Option 2, which looks a little "ultra-fit users only". Option 1 fixed equipment also seems easier to maintain/repair- Option 2 seems complicated and expensive. Machine-like & moving components always end up breaking.	8/4/2020 1:38 PM
112	I voted for Option 1, but I think Option 2 would be better if it ALSO had pull up bars.	8/4/2020 1:36 PM
113	But needs benches - with shade / cover	8/4/2020 1:19 PM
114	Option 2 looks interesting, but I'm concerned that more complex equipment like this will be more prone to break due to the heat and regular use / abuse. Simple things the involve body weight exercises like Option 1 can be built to be extremely durable.	8/4/2020 12:58 PM
115	So much more versatility in option 2.	8/4/2020 12:42 PM
116	Both options are good, but I love the second with further updated/upgraded equipment possibilities.	8/4/2020 12:31 PM
117	This is great! The current area needs a makeover. The reason why I wouldn't use this equipment, but support it, is because I either workout at home, take an outdoor fitness class, or will (eventually....) go back to the gym/boutique group fitness classes indoors. I support this makeover because it will improve the overall area, and it will attract people to use the equipment. I do see people along the trail using equipment, so for those who want free outdoor exercise options, option #2 is awesome! Although, I feel that you can't go wrong with either choice.	8/4/2020 12:30 PM
118	I feel like option 2 invites longer workouts. This space should enhance a workout, not be the entire workout. This puts people at a disadvantage- the likelihood of someone waiting around for another to finish a full workout just to use this equipment is low.	8/4/2020 12:18 PM
119	bamboo jungle looks like a fun way to exercise	8/4/2020 12:13 PM
120	Love the TRX option! ☐☐☐	8/4/2020 11:54 AM
121	Option 2 looks great.	8/4/2020 11:49 AM
122	i live right by there, and walk by there frequently. that site is not on the main trail, so it may see relatively low traffic, and personally i think you may be installing equipment that doesnt get a lot of use. you could monitor the auditorium shores exercise area to see which pieces get used... right below the pard office parking area, on the trail, would be a great place to build a basic, 10-foot-long boat launch site for kayak/canoe/stand-up boards... and heres a crazy idea, but could be wildly popular: a self-serve dog wash station.	8/4/2020 11:41 AM
123	I think spending capital on this kind of project right now is not the right thing to do. There is no way to keep the surfaces clean of COVID. Granted, in a year, we should have a vaccine, and the project will take time, but the economy is going to take a long time to recover.	8/4/2020 11:31 AM
124	I love option two but I would swap out the arm whirlygig with regular pull up bars.	8/4/2020 11:13 AM
125	Option two appears to have many breakable parts	8/4/2020 11:06 AM
126	Love the bamboo jungle! Like the simplicity of the look of this design, great fit for the trail	8/4/2020 10:58 AM
127	It seems to allow a greater variety of exercises for people with different capabilities.	8/4/2020 10:52 AM
128	I like option 2, but it looks like it might require far more maintenance and degrade over time. Option 1 is better if we think option 2 is prone to breaking.	8/4/2020 10:46 AM
129	I primarily use the pull-up bars currently as I don't have access to this activity otherwise.	8/4/2020 10:46 AM
130	Only concern with Option 2 would be it seems easier to break / damage vs Option 1 (more stagnant equipment = less things to break / less homeless people would tamper with it)	8/4/2020 10:44 AM
131	I love suspension trainers and think they are a great option.	8/4/2020 10:36 AM
132	Let's incorporate items for kids as well. Option 1 seems to have some kiddo elements. I live in the condo complex 200 yards from this site (Barton Place). I pass by this area daily on my run	8/4/2020 10:35 AM and/or walk to my office. Glad to see you all are targeting this area for improvement! Thank you for protecting the trail as the incredible community asset that it is!

133	With more sitting and please keep the shower. After long runs we rinse the sweat to change. Simple bathroom will be great too, nothing fancy just the bathroom.	8/4/2020 10:35 AM
134	I feel that there should be more consideration around the concerns for spreading viruses (e.g. coronavirus) through such equipment. These areas near the trail could potentially be better used in a way that enables safer ways to do such exercises OR the funds could be used to repair areas of the trail that are currently dangerous for users (e.g. the areas that were washed out by flooding, including the foundation under the train tracks).	8/4/2020 10:33 AM
135	I like option 2 better, although the link-suspension trainer is concerning to me. It seems like it would likely be vandalized / destroyed compared to more stable equipment	8/4/2020 10:22 AM
136	Pull up bars instead of Arm Bike would be good.	8/4/2020 10:21 AM
137	Option 1 seems more 'natural', blending into the outdoor setting. Option 2 seems like a gym.	8/4/2020 10:16 AM
138	The aerobic posts in option 1 look really dangerous and cool and I'd like to try them but I don't think they would be the best choice for the masses.	8/4/2020 10:16 AM
139	Keep the pull up bars...these are basic, hold up to the elements and are so hard to find or have at home.	8/4/2020 10:16 AM
140	I think I prefer Option 2. I'm intrigued by the steps and the link set, but not by the arm bike. I like that the equipment has instructions on it showing what you can do. The first Option has good basics, but they are basics that I already don't use. One concern about Option 2 though is if it is more likely to get broken with more moving parts.	8/4/2020 10:13 AM
141	Waste of money. No one can use it now or even anytime soon.	8/4/2020 10:11 AM
142	I feel that the 'Link' section of option 2 will be worn down/broken much faster than the equipment in option 1. Additionally, the kettle bells on poles aren't useful	8/4/2020 10:08 AM
143	Option 2 seems more accessible and useful to more people—but I'd much rather it not be orange. I think the bright color is inconsistent with the pastoral aesthetic on the trail.	8/4/2020 10:06 AM
144	If there were a hybrid of the two perhaps would be nice. Keep it simple with fewer moving parts mechanically and there will be less maintenance and still achieve the fitness goals.	8/4/2020 10:06 AM
145	please consider putting in equipment near the Mopac bridge (North or South side) as well as on the North -East Side of 35. this way you can run various loops and mix in equipment workouts along the way.	8/4/2020 10:06 AM
146	Good variety and good for a variety of ages and skill levels. Option 1 seems geared toward those already in shape with routines, where option 2 is more beginner friendly.	8/4/2020 10:01 AM
147	combine the suspension trainer and bamboo jungle to get a good functional and fun combination	8/4/2020 9:55 AM
148	the bamboo jungle at least looks cool. Option 2 is tacky.	8/4/2020 9:53 AM
149	People can join a gym if they want exercise equipment - the trail area is meant to be natural - free of manmade equipment that can be an eyesore. I have rarely seen people using the current equipment and given the state of the current pandemic situation - I doubt this new equipment can be safely used with use not supervised. The money can certainly be funneled to other much needed improvements to the trail other than equipment that is meant for a gym/health club - not an outdoor park.	8/4/2020 9:53 AM
150	I find Option 2 much more functional	8/4/2020 9:51 AM
151	I feel like option 1 would flow better with nature and less broken parts.	8/4/2020 9:50 AM
152	Thank you!!!	8/4/2020 9:49 AM
153	A combination would be best. The bamboo jungle is great but so is the suspension trainer. The steps could be done on literal steps so that's a waste. The parallel bars are ok but not many will have the proper strength to use them. The arm bike might not fair so well in the weather. The pull up bars are great but NEVER high enough for everyone.	8/4/2020 9:47 AM

154	Option 2 is nice but seems prone to repeated breakage and vandalism, which would make the equipment unusable.	8/4/2020 9:46 AM
155	Option #2 has too many moving parts and sign areas that are subject to vandalism. Option #1 keeps it simple and will have a longer life span.	8/4/2020 9:45 AM
156	My perspective is that it is really a matter of upkeep. Either option is a great upgrade, but simpler is easier to keep in good working condition -- and I find that neglect of public facilities tends to be a fact, regardless of the best of intentions. So, I support the simpler of the two options.	8/4/2020 9:42 AM
157	If it is designed for adults, option 2. If it is designed for kids and families, option 1.	8/4/2020 9:42 AM
158	keep it simple, body weight exercises, thanks!	8/4/2020 9:40 AM
159	all looks terrible	8/4/2020 9:40 AM
160	Currently, the pull up bar is very slippery. Some sort of grip would be very helpful	8/4/2020 9:40 AM
161	Option 1 has fewer moving parts and therefore seems less likely to need long-term maintenance. But option 2 does seem more wheelchair friendly.	8/4/2020 9:40 AM
162	I think Option 2 will get a lot more use by people	8/4/2020 9:37 AM
163	looks less like a "gym outside".	8/4/2020 9:37 AM
164	I feel like Option 2 may require more maintenance and be more likely to be broken. Both options feel tightly spaced, could you space them out more?	8/4/2020 9:35 AM

Q6 What other things do you think we should consider in the equipment selection?

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Please include a shade cover over the equipment area.	8/31/2020 3:45 PM
2	ADA accessible equipment	8/31/2020 12:47 PM
3	Quick and simple exercises. Anyone using these exercise stations does so mid run, jog, walk, bike on the trail. And I'd guess on average of 5-10 minutes. Which is a good thing = turnover, etc. They probably don't want to be learning new exercises or reading instructions to find out how to use the equipment.	8/31/2020 8:19 AM
4	Same issue with rings. If you implement gymnastic rings make one set high enough for taller people to use! Rings and pullup bars need to be high enough to jump up or step up to and then hang without your feet touching the ground. All sets currently around the lake are only for short people!	8/30/2020 9:18 AM
5	Water fountain operated by a foot pedal in addition to the standard knob, to reduce spread of germs by hand contact.	8/29/2020 8:00 PM
6	Sail shades over the equipment so the sun doesn't heat it up too much.	8/29/2020 8:35 AM
7	Option 2 but include pull up bars	8/29/2020 8:29 AM
8	Gliders, bikes, more robus equipment	8/29/2020 8:27 AM
9	Looking for it to connect to the nature around it and tie into Lady Bird lake in terms of design. The futuristic option seems out of place.	8/28/2020 10:30 PM
10	Clean water access / dog water	8/28/2020 9:37 PM
11	Could you also add a sit-up bench to either option?	8/28/2020 3:31 PM
12	Including several height options for steps/boxes for lunging would be great. A nearby shower option with the dog fountain is also needed.	8/28/2020 2:19 PM
13	I do enjoy the weight and suspension offered in the link suspension trainer, core twist, and magnetic bell. I do not think the bench is very necessary.	8/28/2020 1:42 PM
14	adding shade to the equipment to increase usable time	8/28/2020 1:22 PM
15	Good ground space for ground workouts	8/27/2020 9:25 PM
16	Look to Asia! South Korea, Taiwan and China have mastered outdoor public workout equipment. They have equipment for kids to exercise next to adult workout equipment. For example, they have kid's stationary bikes with a simple system that allows kids to "race" one another for 5 minutes. There are ways for the equipment to be engaging and user friendly.	8/27/2020 6:17 PM
17	something that kids can also play on while parents exercise	8/27/2020 5:52 PM
18	Stretching walls or benches.	8/23/2020 4:48 PM
19	If you do go with option 2, please buy the option from the manufacturer with a pull-up	8/23/2020 7:46 AM
20	Really think about equipment that is easy to use/and hard to vandalize and break. The beauty about pull up bars and parallel bars is they're pretty self explanatory, and holistic in targeting different muscle groups.	8/22/2020 7:25 PM

52	Durability! Option 2 looks like the sort of complicated equipment that would end up broken/vandalized.	8/19/2020 4:41 PM
53	Durability, allow trainers to reserve and hold classes a few times during the day	8/19/2020 3:16 PM
54	No moving parts, reliability is my top priority. Make sure the pullup bars have an option high enough for tall people to use.	8/19/2020 1:54 PM
55	Water fountains	8/19/2020 1:47 PM
56	- Pull up bars high enough for a 6ft tall person to use with full arm extension (bar at 8ft or higher) - Don't get equipment with moving parts, it just breaks and the equipment becomes useless.	8/19/2020 1:41 PM
57	Direct sunlight makes some of the equipment too hot to use in the middle of the day, so lighter colors, materials designed to be as cool as possible in direct sunlight, and the addition of shade would be nice.	8/19/2020 1:40 PM
58	It should be something unique that can draw people into doing outdoor exercise.	8/19/2020 1:34 PM

68	Horizontal ladder bars, short parallel bars, tall (+7ft)and wide pull up bars, core station, gymnastics rings, wall for handstands	8/11/2020 7:20 PM
69	I think the "Steps" option is great - what about adding a plyometric box, as well? This would be a huge benefit for people looking for a more challenging "step", and could be used by more active users for "box jumps"! I could see them getting a lot of use, as many fitness studios and areas do not provide them.	8/11/2020 1:14 PM
70	Pullup bar, tires run	8/11/2020 12:47 PM
71	Replace the steps in option 2 with pull up bars	8/11/2020 3:51 AM

money. I rarely see people use anything other than push and pull up bars. The Bamboo Jungle I suppose adds some cool design elements/style, but it seems like a waste of money. The new Butler Park playground is right around the corner with stuff like that.

92	Choose low-maintenance equipment offering commonly used and understood exercises.	8/6/2020 3:55 PM
93	Consider how you're going to keep them clean, maintain them, have people rotate out from using them, etc.	8/6/2020 2:16 PM
94	Long term maintenance and durability and longevity	8/6/2020 3:47 AM
95	safety	8/5/2020 10:58 PM
96	Nothing, option 1 is great.	8/5/2020 7:27 PM
97	Heat during the summer. Ouch. A mistake I've made too often. Stretching aids. Like angled spots to place foot on to stretch calves. Or spot to hold onto for stretching purposes that isn't a piece of equipment someone else wants to use	8/5/2020 4:49 PM
98	Different levels of benches or limestone blocks for step-ups and box jumps. (This would have greater surface area than the little steps in station 1). Also, there needs to be some kind of incline bench for core for those who do not have the strength to do core from the parallel bars. Most older people will not be able to hold themselves up, and then perform knee raises.	8/5/2020 12:53 PM
99	Incline bench for sit-ups	8/4/2020 9:56 PM
100	How the look and feel of the equipment fits in to the rest of the vibe of the trail & outdoors.	8/4/2020 9:12 PM
101	ease of use for those who are not athletes	8/4/2020 7:29 PM
102	Low maintenance items like sit up benches.	8/4/2020 6:15 PM
103	Any way to encourage intergenerational exercise together would be terrific. I think both options do some of that. Perhaps signage with suggested exercises that kids and adults can do together, using the equipment available, would be the best.	8/4/2020 5:17 PM
104	Pull up bars, monkey bars to cross, jump platforms	8/4/2020 5:11 PM
105	Water fountain for people and pets	8/4/2020 5:05 PM
106	What kind of equipment can be utilized during a pandemic?	8/4/2020 5:00 PM
107	A water fountain! It may also be good to have a few benches on the side for people to sit to take a break or switch their shoes, etc.	8/4/2020 4:09 PM
108	I have actually put in a ticket with 311 to fix the outdoor shower but nothing has been done. Please ensure an outdoor shower and cooled drinking fountain are placed similar to what is at auditorium shores now after that debacle :)	8/4/2020 3:48 PM

112	zen garden, labyrinth, yoga/pilates/thai chi area	8/4/2020 2:49 PM
113	As water fountains appear part of the plan, please consider a shower head, as well.	8/4/2020 2:27 PM
114	something to occupy kids while adults workout, small sandbox? kid safe climbing?	8/4/2020 2:16 PM
115	may be a water station, doggie wash station	8/4/2020 1:53 PM

121	Nothing. I think option #2 is better, but you can't go wrong if option #1 gains the most votes. Option #2 will be more challenging, though, and the posted signs w/ examples of different moves is great.	8/4/2020 12:30 PM
122	Whatever you install should be very low maintenance, simple, something that will not rust or deteriorate in the elements.	8/4/2020 12:22 PM
123	a wipe dispenser	8/4/2020 12:18 PM
124	swings	8/4/2020 12:06 PM
125	Dog water station on drinking fountain	8/4/2020 11:44 AM
126	hand sanitizing stations of some sort. Super important for shared surfaces like exercise equipment	8/4/2020 11:37 AM
127	Durability. This won't accomplish much if it breaks easily	8/4/2020 11:33 AM
128	Basketball court	8/4/2020 11:25 AM
129	Benches only	8/4/2020 11:19 AM
130	Wipes for folk to clean the equipment when they are done or for people to clean before they use it.	8/4/2020 11:02 AM
131	Maintenance needs	8/4/2020 10:46 AM
132	Bench to rest and water fountain	8/4/2020 10:43 AM
133	Heat resistant materials for where skin would touch...?? Is there such a thing? Or put shade over the equipment area, which is probably a better idea anyways.	8/4/2020 10:39 AM
134	Include the surface patterns on option 2	8/4/2020 10:38 AM
135	Monkey bars, stones/boulders that kids can climb on and people can sit on.	8/4/2020 10:35 AM
136	heat resistant materials and a hand washing station	8/4/2020 10:35 AM
137	Very simple bathroom, it's the closest area to Zilker park and to feed the ducks so a lot a families including myself park there and there is no restrooms... more benches and the bench to do sit-ups too , thanks	8/4/2020 10:35 AM
138	durability	8/4/2020 10:33 AM
139	How are they going to be cleaned between users???	8/4/2020 10:33 AM
140	What can be easily cleaned? Can people keep a safe distance from each other while exercising?	8/4/2020 10:25 AM
141	A flat section for "floor" work (crunches, etc.). Both have what appear to be small areas, but maybe a slightly larger open area.	8/4/2020 10:22 AM
142	Why are there only restrooms in other side of trail? The restrooms over there are even pretty close to each other. Makes no sense.	8/4/2020 10:19 AM
143	Please make sure that pull-up bars have at least one bar useful for taller people. Meaning 8.5'-9'0". For example the bars at Auditorium Shores are not useful for taller people.	8/4/2020 10:19 AM
144	Covid	8/4/2020 10:16 AM
145	An open area where people could do their own exercises in the shade/flooring	8/4/2020 10:13 AM
146	Spend your money on trail enhancement and maintenance. There are a ton of areas that are washed out, need bridging, water fountains, seating for elderly, etc.,... exercise equipment? It's a trail not a gym. This is bad mojo and a waste of money. Equipment is just another place for people to loiter, contesting the trail and spreading COVID-19. They need no encouragement.	8/4/2020 10:11 AM
147	In addition to pull-up bars, a set of gymnastics rings would be neat. Gymnastic rings are difficult for 'at-home' gym goes to incorporate so it could widen your audience of potential participants.	8/4/2020 10:08 AM
148	The longevity and durability of the equipment. My concern with the equipment in option 2 is that it will break or become worn out. Keep it simple!	8/4/2020 10:08 AM

1	I would highly reconsider the wood mulch surface for the exercise area! Completely prevents the additional use of "free-exercise" for things like sit ups, jumping jacks, planks, push ups, etc. One of the best things of the exercise area in question are the height of the pull-up bars. The Auditorium Shore pull-up bars are too short forcing participants to curl up their legs when using them. I believe this was an oversight on having the correct height bars, but not accounting for burying them deep under the cushioned exercise surface there. No options include a shower, which currently exist today.	8/31/2020 8:19 AM
2	Please end this tall person discrimination with regard to the exercise equipment around the lake!	8/30/2020 9:18 AM
3	It would be great to have a dog corral and bike rack nearby.	8/29/2020 8:35 AM
4	Please get a concrete crew out to optimize the ramp that goes to the trails just west to the ballfields and Toomey Rd. It around a tree, but could better curve for bicycling. Right now it's an awkward angle that is kind of tricky to navigate, even for an advanced cyclist. It should connect seamlessly and looks like it would be a small concrete project to fix the ramp.	8/28/2020 10:30 PM

17	Please make sure the bike racks accomodate larger cargo and family bikes - not just traditional ones.	8/20/2020 2:30 PM
18	I like the colors of option 2. Exercise equipment always looks so bland, it's nice to see something bright and cheerful!	8/20/2020 8:56 AM
19	The idea is fantastic. I really hope the city starts to implement this in parks throughout the city.	8/20/2020 8:17 AM

21	Money would be better spent saving mature trees being overcome by undergrowth and vines	8/19/2020 12:31 PM
22	One major challenge for this area is parking. I used to park there all the time but ever since they started limiting parking near Zach theater I stopped parking there. You also have to stay away from the Parks and Recreation parking area so that leaves very few spots. I feel that the new area may not get as much use if more parking isn't available.	8/17/2020 8:08 PM
23	The limestone quarry wall is a great idea. It's very nice along other parts of the trail to sit on after a run around the lake	8/17/2020 5:03 PM

29	I've researched many companies and equipment for a proposed adult fitness exercise station at Barton Hills Elementary park, which didn't end up gaining funding and traction yet. My idea is to make exercise fun. Climbing blocks or walls with handholds (not really high) would be a fun challenge.	8/10/2020 8:58 PM
30	On any Trail improvements you should consider softer running surfaces. Concrete and asphalt cause injuries and long term runners suffer on those hard surfaces which are impervious.	8/10/2020 1:33 PM
31	Runners do foot drills -- talk to Rogue Running Or Gilberts Gazelles about requirements for runners. They are pretty minimal— like at an 8' x 24' padded surface where you can do your walking drills, some inclined planes to stretch on, exercise mat surface to sit on while stretching.	8/9/2020 12:48 PM

49	It would be nice to have the same equipment options on the East side of the trail	8/4/2020 2:43 PM
50	I do like the "steps" of option 2, though could be simple limestone block. When I am running through Mathias shores, I always see people using the stone walls for 'box jumps'	8/4/2020 1:38 PM
51	The new waterfountain should be re-usable water bottle friendly. It is often difficult to fill them, since they are geared towards putting the water in your mouth.	8/4/2020 1:36 PM
52	I might actually use the area if it were option 2. Even though I don't ever engage in that type of activity when I am on the trail.	8/4/2020 12:42 PM

59	The trail is an amazing place. My family and I have enjoyed it for many years! Let's make sure it is a place where we can make sure we can get out to enjoy nature and the lovely surroundings and not a place to spread more virus.	8/4/2020 10:33 AM
60	I think it's a waste of time and money. Better spent on improved trails that resist wash outs and puddles after rain. Widen the trail considerably if we want to maintain a shared bike and pedx space.	8/4/2020 10:28 AM
61	We need restrooms by Butler or dog off leash area!	8/4/2020 10:19 AM
62	Playground or exercise equipment? Playground, away from the trail. If the PARD wants exercise and playground, let them pay for it. Trails are for hikers and runners. Natural areas are the draw to the trails, not exercise equipment. Bad budgeting/management of donated funds.	8/4/2020 10:11 AM
63	For the water fountains - add a foot peddle.	8/4/2020 10:08 AM
64	A bathroom would be great.	8/4/2020 10:06 AM
65	The new solid concrete "boardwalks" installed a few years ago along the RiverSide corridor are TERRIBLE. Concrete is the worst substance to run on and the scored+raised fake Limestone cut outs along the way are dangerous as people can and have tripped over them, along with baby carriages and bikes having to travel over the uneven surface. Might consider topping it off with a rubber track surface or at minimum, the same crushed granite used on the rest of the trail. it is a horrible experience to use that addition, and its a shame because the views are so great. I avoid it all cost.	8/4/2020 10:06 AM
66	Will there be cleaning stations that dispense sanitizing lotions and also wipes to clean equipment?	8/4/2020 10:05 AM
67	Please quit doing random projects like this and focus on something like adding lights for safety along the trail!!! This is such a hazard for anyone who wants to use our amazing trails in the morning or evening, especially now when it's 100 degrees every day.	8/4/2020 10:04 AM
68	I think simpler items such as benches, bars are best	8/4/2020 9:58 AM
69	Please reconsider using wood chips in these ares. I know that the bonded rubber crumb stuff isn't the best for the environment, but even the most engineered of wood play fiber mulch moves around, gets muddy, etc. The little fitness station west of the first street bridge - that gets used a ton because the surface is rubber. Go out there and watch people for a half hour - they spend about half the time using the equipment, and the other half rotating through sit ups, push ups, and other floor exercises - things that would be extremely unpleasant or impossible on muddy woodchips. I really think if you want this to be used, you're going to need to rethink the woodchips. I think this is particularly important if you're going to go with option 1 - which seems like it's geared more towards serious exercisers, crossfitters, etc. who will want to do intervals / rotate through floor work. Option 2 seems like it caters more to an older and / or more entry level exerciser - in which case maybe floor work isn't as necessary. But I think you'll get maximum usage out of option 1 with rubber flooring.	8/4/2020 9:53 AM
70	Consider materials. Will the materials get hot in the Texas sun? Will people burn their hands using the metal parallel bars? Consider adding a shade structure. If budget allows, also consider adding in a children's sized version to encourage healthy children in the community so they can "do" what they "see"	8/4/2020 9:49 AM
71	The increased shade from additional trees is a fantastic idea.	8/4/2020 9:46 AM
72	Thank You!	8/4/2020 9:42 AM
