

Town Lake Gazebo

The Town Lake Gazebo, constructed in 1969 by Fannie Davis, a founding National Association of Women in Construction member, was the first structure on the shoreline.

Initially designed to enhance the south shore's beauty, it quickly became a symbol of improved amenities, making Town Lake an even more appealing destination. This charming gazebo marked the beginning of significant improvements for public recreation around the lake.

Fun Fact: The gazebo's roof was also crafted to look like an upside-down morning glory flower!
